THE END OF A BANDIT

HOW SAM BASS MET A VIOLENT DEATH IN A TEXAS TOWN.

The Shooting of the Notorious Desperado Was the Outcome of a Deliberate Murder Committed by One of His Gang of Ontiaws.

"In the little town of Round Rock, in Williamson county, Tex., not more than 30 miles distant from Austin, repose the remains of one of the most desperate highwaymen that ever operated in our section," said Mr. I. N. Crocker of the Lone Star State to a re-

"It was in the spring of 1878 that Sam Bass met his fate in this sleepy little town, and when he died with his boots on the southwest was rid of a criminal who was easily the peer of Jesse James, though he hadn't quite as long a run as that noted outlaw. Bass was a product of Michigan-at least, his sister, a gentie girl, came down from some town in that state to see that his body was decently interred.

"Bass had collected about him a company of as hardened thieves as ever engineered a hold up. The gang had robbed a number of trains in Missouri and Arkaasas and concluded they would make one more good haul in Texas before riding across the border into Mexico, where they proposed to stay in retirement for a season.

"Bass had planned the looting of the ouly bank at Round Rock as an easier job and donbtless a better paying one than tackling a train, which feat had been performed too often to be thoroughly safe. By changing his programme to raiding a village bank there might be more jucre and less risk.

"So on that lovely morning in May when he and his fellow thieves rode into the unsuspicious town they chuckled to think what an easy job it would be to transfer the bank's cash to their pockets. So thoroughly certain were they of getting off with the plunder that they were in no haste about the matter. One wanted to get a shave, another went into a restaurant aud so they scattered singly over the place, but there was an understanding as to the time of attack, and a rendezyous was fixed upon.

"Meanwhile, unknown to the bandits, a squad of mounted Texas rangers had been pressing hard upon the trall of the bad men, and within an hour after the Bass outfit entered Round Rock Sergeant Dick Ware, with eight or ten rangers, also reached the scene. He wasn't awaro of the presence of the robbers, nor did they dream that the officers of the law were in that vicinity. Neither did any citizen of the town have the remotest idea of the identity of certain rough looking men, strangers In the place. But they might be cowboys from some distant west Texas cattle ranch, for the presence of such was too common to occasion uotice.

"The climax came quite by accident. One of the ruflians who had sauntered into a store to make a few purchases, In reaching for his purse to make payment, disclosed a big Coit's revolver. The Texas law against carrying guns was strict, and it so happened that the man who saw the weapon was none other than the town marshai, as brave a fellow as ever lived. He walked up to the desperado and said quite courteously:

"'My friend, I'll have to relieve you

of that six shooter.'

"'I'il give it to you, then,' said the robber with an oath, and in a second had drawn his weapon and fired upon the marshal, who fell dead at the re-

"Upon this the robber rushed out of the store, and immediately his comrades came running to the spot, but no faster than did the rangers with their Winchesters, ready for action. In a second it seemed as if both sides had the situation revealed, and the robbers turned to run to where their horses stood tied, a block from where the murder of the marshal occurred. Before he had run 50 yards Dick Ware had sent a builet into the head of Barnes, Bass' Heutenaut, which iaid the highwaymaa low. "Bass, mortally wounded, managed to get upon his horse, which he urged to breakneck speed. The animal ran for about three miles till he reached the open prairie and stopped to graze. As he did so his rider, unable to sit longer in the saddle from loss of blood, fell to the ground. "When they found him a few hours later, he was dying. He recognized Sergeant Ware as the man who had killed him and said he wanted Ware to have his horse. He regretted their procrastination in robbing the bank, for if they had only known the rangers were so near they could have finlshed the job and escaped."-Washington Post.

Arab music has been described as the singing of a prima donna who has ruptured her voice in trying to sing a duet with herself. Each aote starts from somowhere between a sharp and a flat, but does not stop even thero, and splits up into four or more portions, of which no person can be expected to catch more than one at a tline.

The Clever Spider.

"One of my friends was accustomed to grant shelter to a number of garden spiders under a vacant varanda and to watch their habits. One day a sharp storm broke out, and the wind raged so furiously through the garden that the spiders suffered damage from it, aithough sheltered by the veranda. The mainyards of one of these webs, as the sailors would cail them, were broken so that the web was blown hither and thither, like a slack sail in a storm.

"The spider made no fresh threads, but tried to help itself in another way. It let itself down to the ground by a thread and crawied to a piace where lay some splintered pieces of a wooden fence, thrown down by the storm. It fastened a thread to one of the bits of wood, turned back with it and hung it with a strong thread to the lower part of its nest; about five feet from the ground. The performance was a wonderful one, for the weight of the wood sufficed to keep the nest tolerably firm. while it was yet light enough to yield to the wind and so prevent further injury. The piece of wood was about 21/2 laches long and as thick as a goose

"On the following day a eareless servant knocked her head against the wood, and it fell down. But in the course of a few hours the spider mended her web, broke the supporting thread in two and let the wood fail to the ground."-Our Animal Friends.

Dublin Bootbiacks, 1780.

Among the populace of Dublin in 1780, says the University Magazine, the shoeblacks were a numerous and formidable body. The polish they used was lampblack and eggs, for which they purchased ail that were rotten in the markets. Their implements consisted of a three legged stool, a basket containing a blunt knife, called a spudd, a painter's brush and an old wig. A gentiemaa usualiy went out in the morning with dirty boots or shoes, sure to find a shoebiack sitting on his stool at the corner of the street. The gentlemun put his foot in the iap of the shoeblack without ceremony, and the artist scraped it with his spudd, wiped lt with his wlg and then laid on his composition as thick as black paint with his painter's brush.

The stuff dried with a rich polish, requiring no friction and little inferior to the elaborated modern fluids, save only the intolerable odors exhaled from eggs in a high state of putridity and which filled any honse which was entered before the composition was quite dry and sometimes even tainted the air of fashionable drawing rooms. "Have you a last request to make?" asked the king of the Cannibai islands, addressing the missionary. The latter glanced at his august majesty (so cailed by reason of his summer attire), and replied::

"Yes, Great Onc. When I left my native heath, I promised to write to a brother in this line of work and tell him how I liked the country. If your majesty pieases, I should like to write him a few words."

The king reflected for a moment. "There can be no objection to that, so far as I can see. You may proceed."

The missionary's hands were untied, and there upon a piece of bark he inscribed the following words:

Dear Friend-Thia is a delightful country. There is but one objection to it, and that, I fear, will account for the fact that I shall never see you again. There is plenty to eat here-but the cooking will kill me. Farewell.

This being finished, the king directed his slaves to stir the caldrou and the preparation of the meal proceeded.

A Taie From the Mysterious East. The last wonderful tale being told among the Burmese In Rangoon is concerning a monster egg. A few months ago near Shwebo the villagers heard a strange and mysterious voice in the jungle uttering in Burmese the words, "I am going to lay," which were repeated frequently several times a day for many days. Eveutually the egg was iaid, and its size is said to exceed that of ten large paddy baskets. Nobody wlii go near this egg, from which now come the words, "I am going to hatch," also repeated many times every day .-Times of Burmah.

Former Brutality In War.

Before a battle in former times the priests solemnly devoted to the gods the whole of the hostile army then in sight, and, if possible, uo man of it was left alive. A writer in The Nineteenth Century says that when Hermann deeoyed the great host of Varus into the forest depths all the Romans that escaped death in the battle were captured and ied into the dark recesses, where every man of them was sacrificed upon hastily erected altars.

Latham, in his edition of Tacitus, quotes six contemporary authorities to show that this practice of coneiuding a victory with human sacrifices was customary among our Teutonic ancestors. Some crucified their prisoners, others hung them up to trees for arehery practice, but in general a captive was either siain on the spot or else reserved to be sacrificed to the gods. Even when the progress of agriculture induced them to keep a majority of the prisoners alive to be slaves they appeased the gods for this indignity by increasing the tortures inflicted ou the small remainder.

Gibbon describes how, before the blazing altar, every hundredth mnu's arms were hacked off him and, before his eyes, thrown into the flames. All that a red Indian would have done iast century was freely practiced by our ancestors of 12 centuries ago. Men's Feet.

"Why don't you make the left shoe a little bigger, then?" asked the custom-

"Weii," said the saiesman, "the difference is usually not great, and It might not be enough so that it would be noticed if trying on shoes. And then it is not so great but what the difference in feeling of the two shoes disappears very soon. And theu, too, in some cases the man's right foot is the larger, the man being right footed in this respect as men are sometimes left handed, the reverse of the common habit iu the use of their hands. If shoes were commonly made with the eft a little bigger than the right, to fit the majority of cases, they'd be worse than ever the shoes are made alike in size, a man ing shoes, we should mention, was at start with and they adapt themselves this time a refinement almost confined | quickly to any slight differences in the feet."-New York Sun.

How Care Kills.

Wise people have long been aware that "care killed a ent," but it has been left to the X rays to explain how and why. Dr. Fritz Lange of Munich has turned his fluorescent screen upon the stomach of a happy and contented cat and has seen the process of digestion going on as it should in all well regulated stomachs. Then he has introduced care and irritation iato the feline mind by placing a live monse just beyond reach and has seen digestion stopped thereby.

The Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals may cry out on behalf of the cat, or the monse, or both, but the lesson against worrying is as complete as any Christian Scientist causes dyspepsia, retards all the normal physical processes and demoralizes without accomplishing anything.-Chiengo Tribune.

Dinnis McGuire's Whisky.

Meagher was full of anecdotes of his famous brigade. One story is too good to be lost. He sald he was leading his men to the front in one of the seven days' battles when an aid rode by and announced the news that our army had carried a certain strategic point and several colors. "D'ye hear that, boys?" shouted Meagher. "Our men have won the day and captured the enemy's colors!" "Just as I said that," remarked the general, "a private who was plunging along out of one muddy hole into auother, looked up at me and said, "Ah, ginral, I'd rather hev a pint of Dinnis McGuire's whisky now than all the colors of the rainbow."-Donahue's Maga-

HOW WE GET OUR TEETH.

It Is an Interesting and Somewhat Complicated Operation.

An emineut dentist is nuthority for the following interesting explanation: It would take too long to describe the formation of the teeth, but it may Interest you to know that the enamel is derived in the first place from the epithelium, or scarf skiu, and is in fact modified skin, while the dentine, of which the bulk of the teeth is composed, is derived from the mucous layer below the epithelium.

Lime saits are slowly deposited, and the tooth puip or nerve is the last remains of what was once a pulpy mass of the shape of the future tooth, and even the tooth pulp in the old people sometlines gets quite obliterated by ealcerous deposits. The 32 permanent teeth are preceded by 20 temporary decidnous or milk teeth.

These are fully erupted at about 2 or 21/2 years old, and at about 6 years of age a wonderful process of absorption sets in by which the roots of the temporary teeth are removed to make room for the advancing permanent ones. The erowns of the former, having no support, become loose and fail away.

One would, naturally suppose that the advancing permanent tooth was a powerful factor in the absorption of its temporary predecessor, but we have many facts to prove that it has no influence whatever. Indeed, the interesting phenomena of the eruption and succession of the teeth are very little understood.

I may remark in passing that a child of 6, who has not yet lost any temporary teeth, has in its jaws, either erupted or nouerupted, no fewer than 52 teeth more or less formed.

Skating on Water.

According to 1'rofessor J. He shows that the pressure under the sharp edge of the skate, along the short portion of the could desire. Worrying stops digestion, steel curve which is at any moment in contact, is great enough to liquefy a thin line of ice, and this gives the both body and mind. It wastes the skate its "bite." When the ice is very forces of life, destroying the tissues | cold, the pressure is sometimes inadequate to reduce the meiting point sufficiently, and then, as all skaters know, It is dillicuit to make the skates bite. For very cold lee Professor Joly recoinmends "hollow ground" skates, because the effective pressure increases with the thinness of the edge.

Lincoln's Way.

At a time when Mr. Lincoln was under great mental stress during the civil war Mr. George H. Yeaman, then cougressman from Kentucky, called upou him and thus describes the oceasion in the New York Tribune:

"The president was alone at his desk, hard at work, and the congressman promptly offered to retire and call

"'No,' said Lincoln, 'sit down. I'll be through shortly.'

"Presently his little son partly opened the door. 'Papa,' said he, 'mamma says the company will soou assemble.' "The congressman rose. 'Please be sented; we'll get to It directly,' said Lincoln. "He eontinued his work. His face was very grave; it showed anxiety and melancholy indescribable. Disasters had come in the field, and it was not ail

Some One Had to Stay. The story below is from El Diario, an Argentine newspaper, published in Spanish. The auccdote is told of a prison in a provincial town in Argentina:

"An employee, whose duty it was to laspect them, arrived fate at night at oue of them and asked a ragged 'gaucho' who opened the door where the chief of police was. "The chief, sir,' he answered, 'lives at his farm, three or four leagues off. He seidom comes? " 'And the second of police?'

"'He has been invited to a dance.'

"'And the gendarmes?' "The gendarmes, sir, finish their dnty at 6 p. m. and dou't return till next day."

"'But this is a scandal! There is nobody here to explain things. And you? Who are you?

"'I am the prisoner, sir.'"

The whole thing rends like an incident from a comic opera. But it is a perfectly literal translation from the paper mentioned.

He Answered It.

The following story is told of how Thomas B. Reed was admitted to the bar in California: Mr. Reed was being examined us to his qualifications for the law along with several companions. The question "Was the legal tender act, in your opinion, constitutional?" was asked of the candidate sitting next to Mr. Reed. The young man hesitated, as well he might, for even the justices of the supreme court had spent many weary days hearing arguments on that particular question, and after once deciding that it was unconstitutional afterward reversed their decision. While the young man hesitated, the judge turned to Mr. Reed, snying, "What do you think, Mr. Reed-was the act constitutional?"

"It was," replied Mr. Reed, without a moment's hesitation.

"Very good," was the reply; "you are admitted to the bar. Any man who can answer offhand a question that is still puzzling the supreme court of the United States is certainly pre-eminently qualified to practico law before this eourt."-Washingtou Letter.

The Missed Dish.

A schoolmaster in a village school had been in the habit of purchasing pork from parents of his pupils on the occasion of the killing of the pig. One day a small boy marched up to the master's desk and inquired "if he would like a bit of pork, as they were going to kill their pig."

The schoolmaster replied in the affirmative. Several days having eiapsed, and hearing nothing of the pork, the master called the boy up to him and inquired the reason he had not brought it.

"Oh, please, slr," the boy replied, "the pig got better."-San Francisco Argonaut.

THE Presidential election will occur next year. This is the year for the Republicans to "get together" on their State and county tickets, so they can carry the State next year.—Public Ledger.

And for the same reason this is the year for the Democrats to "get together" on "their State and county tiekets, so they can carry the State next year."

EX-CAPTAIN OBERLIN M. CARTER, who was sentenced to dismissal from the army, to be imprisoned for five years at Ft. MR. JOHN W. ALEXANDER.

Nothing But Words of Praise for Democracy's Popular Nominee for Representative.

Public Ledger: "Elsewhere in this impression of the Ledger will be found the announcement of Mr. John W. Alexander, Democratic eandidate for Representative from Mason County in the next Legislature. He is no stranger to the people of the county, nor is he an untried experiment as an official. For several years he was a Deputy, and later was elected High Sheriff by the largest majority given to any eandidate within the past twenty-five years. We have known him from ehildhood; and as boy and man, as citizen and official, have always known him as honorable and upright. If elected he will serve the people faithfully as Representative as he has served them in other capacities."

Sunday Morning Call: "In another column will be found the announcement of Mr. John W. Alexander as a eandidate for Representative of Mason County -subject to the action of his party. It is hardly worth while to give this gentleman's political bearings, for they are well defined and generally known. Though his head is streaked with silver and gold-a bi-metallic, as it were-there is not a more thoroughbred Democrat in old Mason than our John. He is capable, popular and level-headed, three essential requisites which should accompany Mason's Representative, be he who he may. Mr. Alexander is not a stranger to office, having served as High Sheriff of this county, sat as a city father in the Council of our eity, and other positions of trust and honor, all of which he filled with eredit and entire satisfaction to his constituents. He is a successful business man, an ex-farmer and a man of the people; with these relations and experienc's he is well informed as to the needs and requirements of all the people as a whole, hence when it comes to enacting laws affecting their interests he will know how to look after and take care of them. The affairs of Mason at Frankfort will be well cared for if she confides her interests to the keeping of Mr. Alexander."

THINK ABOUT THIS.

Figures Showing the Result of Republican Rule in Kentucky for Past Four Years.

[Paris Kentuckian-Citizen.]

Every eitizen is interested, or should be interested in the welfare and prosperity of the State. For nearly four years the Republican party has been in consider and decide is: Has that party so administered the government and affairs of the State as to entitle it to a new lease of power?

Almost at the inception of the Republican administration of the State governand practically martial law was established at the Capital, and soldiery surround- of morat obliquity. Yours truly, ed the halls of legislation. It was an attempted show of power, but a pitlable display of weakness—and an ineffaceable disgrace to the Commonwealth.

The financial interests and conditions of the State are of paramount importance. How have the Republicans managed the finances of the State?

The amount paid for the general expenditure fund, beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1892, to June 30th, 1895, was $8,469,885 87.

Under Republican rule, amount paid out for same fund, beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1896, to the fiseal year ending June 30, 1899, was $10,-425,766 57; showing a difference in favor of Democratic control of the State in four of his letter is as follows: years of $1,964,900.14, or nearly $500,000 per annum; a pretty heavy outlay for the luxury (?) of Republican rule.

The school fund has not been managed as well under Republican rule as under Democratic rule. During the four years, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, the amount distributed aggregated $7,880,568.14. During amount distributed aggregated $6,869,-162.30; showing a difference in favor of the Democratic administration of $1,011, the fund in 1896 was made by Republieans, but the per capita for that year was fixed in 1895 by the Democrats.

Under the Democratie administration the per capita distributed during the present Republican administration the per capita has averaged only $2 35.

The rate of taxation has been largely umny. increased, and yet, according to the shows existing deficit to be $468.879.31. examine such statements as these and morals, energy and devotion to duty. ascertain for themselves whether it is longer safe to trust the Republican party with the management of the financial affairs of the State?

The Democracy of Kentucky are men more largely interested in the material progress and prosperity of the State than Republicans; Democrats bave in the past, and will in the future, manage the State affairs with prudence and economy. The burden of taxation falls mainly upon them, and they will see to it that the buiden shall be lifted and made lighter instead of heavier.

Voters should not permit abuse and side issues to obscure the great and vital issues between the two leading political parties. If the people want good government, State and National-and an economical and sale administration of public affairs, the only way to accomplish that result is by placing the Democracy in

REV. GEORGE H. MEANS

Corrects Some Recent Misstatements Made by Theodore Hallam, the Brownite.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 6.—In a letter received to-day by Mrs. Emma Guy Croinwell, wife of Attorney William Cromwell, of this city, the Rev. George H. Means, of Winchester, formerly pastor of the Scott Street Methodist Chureb, of Covington, takes occasion to deny some of the statements made by Thecdore Hallam, of Covington, in some recent speeches for the Brown ticket. Mr. Means was the minister of the church when it was erected, and was the one who solicited a donation from Senator Goebel for a carpet for the church. His letter, to Mrs. Cromwell, describing the incident, is as follows:

Dear Friend: In answer to your question concerning Mr. Hallam's speech at Glasgow, I will say that that part of it which relates to the Scott Street Church, of Covington, and the carpet which Mr. Goebel proposed to furnish is straugly inaccurate. Mr. Haliam says that Mr. Goebel approached the preacher and suggested to him, just after the new church was bull, that If they would advertise the fact that be and his brother gave it and would support him politically, they would give the church a carpet. Now the facts are these: I approached Mr. Goebel, and Mr. Goebet never approached me at any time or for any purpose. Mr. Goebet said that he would see his brother, and gave me to undersland that the carpet would be furnished. Nothing was said about advertising the fact; nothing was said about supporting him politically, and no conditions whatever were meu-

Mr. Haitam coutinues: "You all know that it wouldn't take 1,000 yards of carpet, and that there is only a narrow strip down the aisles."

This statement is of no importance, but like others made by htm, is tnaccurate. It took 900 yards to carpet that church, and it is carpeted. Mr. Hallam further says: "Goebel has never given so much as a shred of carpet to the church." This is true, but Mr. Hallam faited to give his audience the reason for this, which is that a few of Mr. Sandiord's friends, not more than five or six, opposed receiving it, and they talked so much that it finally came to Mr. Goe bet's ears, and I went to see him and released him from his promise to give tt.

As to the statement that "the mintster indigpower, and the question for each voter to nantty spurned Mr. Goebet's proposition," it is not true, because Mr. Goebel made no propost. tion of any kind. The question of politics was never mentioned at any time, uor was there any other question ever mentioned in connection with the transaction.

Of course you know I am neither a Democrat nor a Republican, but a Prohibitionist, and I have no interest in the matter except to see ment, for the first time in the history of justice and truth prevait. As you ask me the the State, the military was called out, question, it is but right that I should answer you. Mr. Goebel's course throughout was manly, straightforward and without the shadow Pays a Tribute to the Democratic Nominee For Governor.

FRANKFORT, KY., September 29.-Rev. Thomas N. Arnold, of this city, one of the most widely known and best-beloved Christian ministers in this section of Kentueky, has written a letter to a friend in Montgomery County, in which he takes oecasion to say something eommendatory of Senator Goebel, the Democratic Gubernatorial nominee. That part

"Having formerly lived many years in Covington, I have known William Goebel since his early boyhood, and have watched with interest his rise to his present commanding position. There must have been unusual ability and assurance of integrity in the young attorney when the late Senator John W. BECERYBODY WELCOME. TO

HON. JAMES H. MULLIGAN.

One of Kentucky's Honored Democrats Deiivers an Able and Instructive Speech at Court House Monday.

Hon. James H. Mulligan, of Lexington, delivered a most able and instructive speech at the court house Monday afternoon. There was no vituperation or abuse in his entire discourse; it was clean, clear-cut and convincing, a call to duty to every Democrat.

He stated that he never was so intensely a Democrat as now; that the fariner, the laborer, the merchant and the mechanic were fast becoming the abject slaves of the trusts; that the trusts fixed the price which the producer got for his products and also fixed the price which the consumer had to pay. He stated that the protective tariff was the fountain source of trusts.

He denounced the war of conquest in the Philippines as contrary to the Declaration of Independence.

He paid glowing tributes to Senator Win. Goebel, saying, among other things, that he had served six years with him in the Legislature and that Mr. Goebel was never accused of having broken his word or having gone back on a bill which he had espoused; that during his twelve years in the Senate no man could point to a single vote of his which was against the interest of the people and which was not against the combines.

THE LATE W. H. TARLETON.

A Tribute to Deceased From One Who Knew Him Well.

"Mark the perfect man and behold the upright for the end of that man is peace."

William Ifolman Tarleton, who dled at his home near Washington, Ky., Thursday, Oct. 5th, was born near Mayslick in 1817. His brothers were Dr. R. H. Tarleton, of Martinsville, Ind., Dr. A. J. Tarleton, deceased, of Indianapolls, and John R. Tarletou of this county; his sisters. Mrs. Harriett Gill, of California, Mrs. Amelia Smarr, deceased, of Brooksville, Ky., and Mrs. Aun Denkin, deceased, of Martinsville, 1nd. His last wife, who survives him, was Mrs. F. It was my privliege to know him from very cariy boyhood and I look back with tunaiioyed pleasure to the bappy childhood days spent in ernor, and those attempting his defeat the seclety of his charmlug family. 1 remember with what pleasure we latherless children looked lorward to our summer vacation when he always came to take us, welcome guests, to his home, and ou through all the years we ever found blm the true loving friend, father and Christian.

Ills remains were interred at Shannou with those of dear ones gone before, after religious services by Rev. F. W. Harrop, assisted by Revs. Calvert and Darlington. A large number of relatives and friends were present to atjest their af fection and regard.

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it issulug like "a bridegroom from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to riso iu tho morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourlshuient of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood enfecbled organs, and gives that sense of sirength and power which makes the strugglo of life a joy. The "good feeling" which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimu ion, as it contains uo alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant. It does not brace up the body, but builds it up into a condition of sound health.

PITHY POLITICAL POINTS.

It looks like the President had a string to the Carter case when he signed the papers affirming the court's finding.

Senator Gochel deals in facts and figures, days and dates, and names and places, like the methodical and palnstaking and laborious man that he ls, and like the faithful public servant and defender of the people that he has been and shali conjinue to be.

It always has been cons'dered unwise and nnsafe for those who dwell in glass houses to engage in stone throwing. liow reckless then is ii for a man who has been so unfortunate as to bave had a brother confined in the penlientlary to abuse and villify somebody else's brothers.

Between Goebel and Taylor. [Bardstown Record.]

The result of the campaign so far shows unmistakably that the contest for Governor is between Mr. Goebel and Mr. Taylor. One or the other of these men will be the next Chief Magistrate of the Commonwealth. The people must take their choice between these two, and it is a waste of time and votes to consider the candidacy of any other man. Ex-Gov Brown himself has not the slightest hope of being elected, and his candidacy is confessedly in the interest of the Republican ticket.

A Man of Destiny.

[Madisonviile Ilusticr.] There can be no question that Mr. Goebel has made a remarkable canvass. The crowds that have attended his speakings and the enthusiasm manifested by those supporting him have never been equalled in a contest for a State office in Kentucky. He is a man State, but of the nation.

Goebel Will Win. [Mt. Sterling Advocate.]

Brown's Purpose.

[Nicholasviiie Journai.] Ex-Gov. Brown in his speech at Maysville Monday declared he was for any kind of a ticket to defeat Goebel. Tha is just exactly what the old gentleman is endeavoring to do, and any voter who has ever been a Democrat should not recognize him at the ballot box, as i means just so much toward electing Tay

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Decided Falling Off in the Offerings Last Week-Bidding Very Active and Strong.

Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville To-bacco Warehouse.]

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1,811 hhds, with receipts for the same period 664 hhds. Saies on our market since January 1st, amount to 128,232 bhds. Sales of the crop of 1898 on our market to this date amount to 126,364 hhds,

The offerings last week showed a decided faliing off when compared with the past three or four weeks. The market has been very active and strong, some grades of tobacco probably seliing bigher than they have at any time during the year. The heavy bodied red fillers, when in of destiny, and bids fair to be a potent dry, sweet order, that sell between $0.50 and factor in the affairs not only of the $12.50, were exceedingly strong. These same grades in the thin, brightest tobaccos seem to us iess active. The real good fine sorts, that sell from $16 to $20, met with less competition than they did three weeks ago. One of the houses beionging to this company (Brown house) one day offered a line of eighty-two hhds, ol sweet leaf and lugs, with a few trashes mixed in, that averaged $11 46, the highest price being $19.75. Common sorts, either red bright, selling below $8,

The following quotations fairly represent our narket for burley tobacco 1898 of Trash (green or mlxed)... Common colory trash..... Medium to good colory trash.... Common iugs, not colory.... Common colory ings..... Medium to good colory iugs.... Common to medlum feaf. Medium to good leaf... Good to fine leal... Select wrappery leaf...
